The Dorotheum sofa in Brazilliance, $15,000, makes for the perfect addition to any beachside vacation home.

GREENTHUMB In true Dorothy Draper fashion, the esteemed and established (having been in the business for over 90 years) interior design firm's latest line of luxe fabric draws on the brand's signature bold contrasts and floral prints. The new collection, dubbed Brazilliance—an apropos moniker for its exotic palm leaf-patterned line of furniture, accessories and wallpaper—was designed by Dorothy Draper president and owner Carleton Varney, a designer well known in our state for styling the interior of former President Jimmy Carter's family homes in Ellijay and Plains. Though the line was crafted for the revered New York-based Kindel Furniture, Atlanta's design-obsessed can get their hands on the new fabric with a simple drive to Buckhead. *Mathews Furniture + Design, 1240 W.
